3.3 About MVC

MVC stands for Model–View–Controller. It is a software architectural pattern. It divides a given software application into three interconnected parts, so as to separate internal representations of information from the ways that information is presented to or accepted from the user.

Components of MVC

- Model: It specifies the logical structure of data in a software application and the high-level class associated with it
- View: View component is used for all the UI logic of the application and these are the components that display the application's user interface (UI).
- Controller: Controllers act as an interface between Model and View components. It processes all the business logic and incoming requests, manipulate data using the Model component, and interact with the Views to render the final output. It receives input and initiates a response by making calls on model objects.

3.4 About Laravel

Laravel is a powerful MVC PHP framework, designed for developers who need a simple and elegant toolkit to create full-featured web applications. Laravel was created by Taylor Otwell. With Laravel, you think less about the setup, architecture, and dependencies of a project and go straight into the meat of the project.

Few Advantages of using Laravel

- The web application becomes more scalable to the Laravel framework.
- Considerable time is saved in designing the web application, since Laravel reuses the components from other framework in developing web application.
- It includes namespaces and interfaces, thus helps to organize and manage resources.

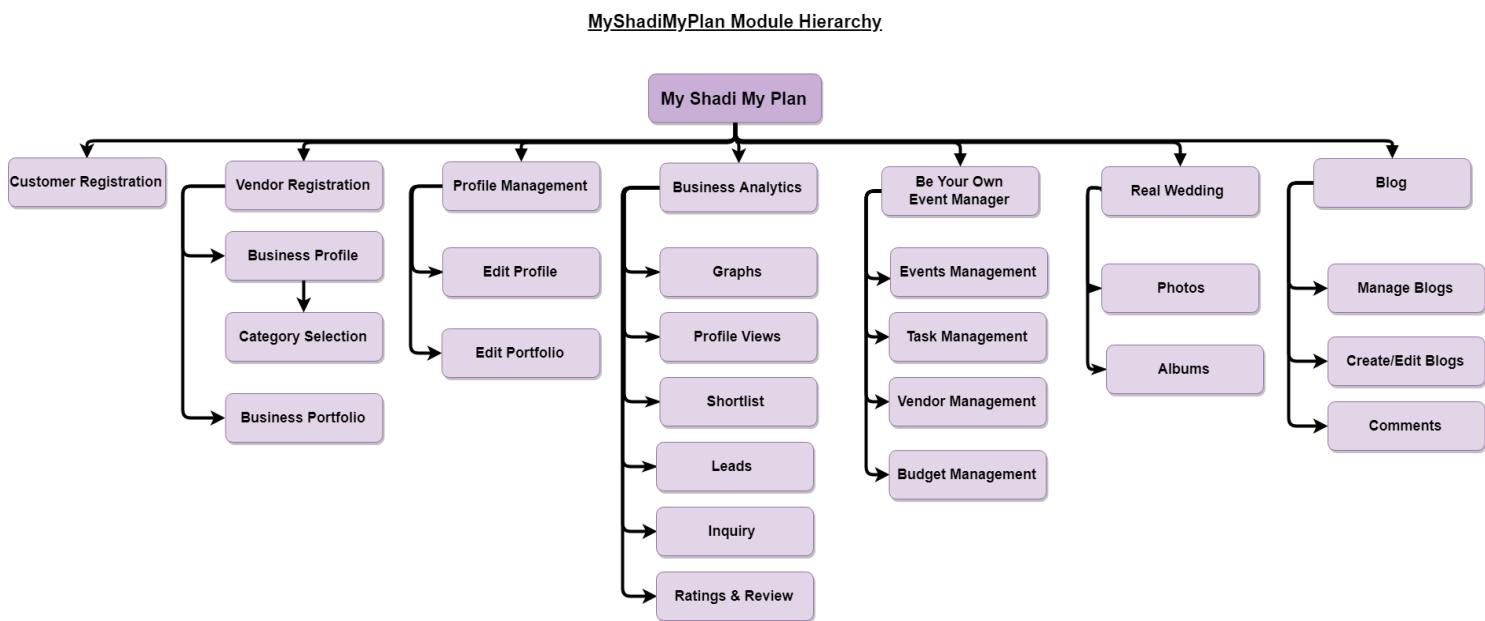

The above diagram shows how a request is handled. When a user submits a request routing takes place due to this a controller function is called which then interacts with the model and returns the results in the view

4 System Design

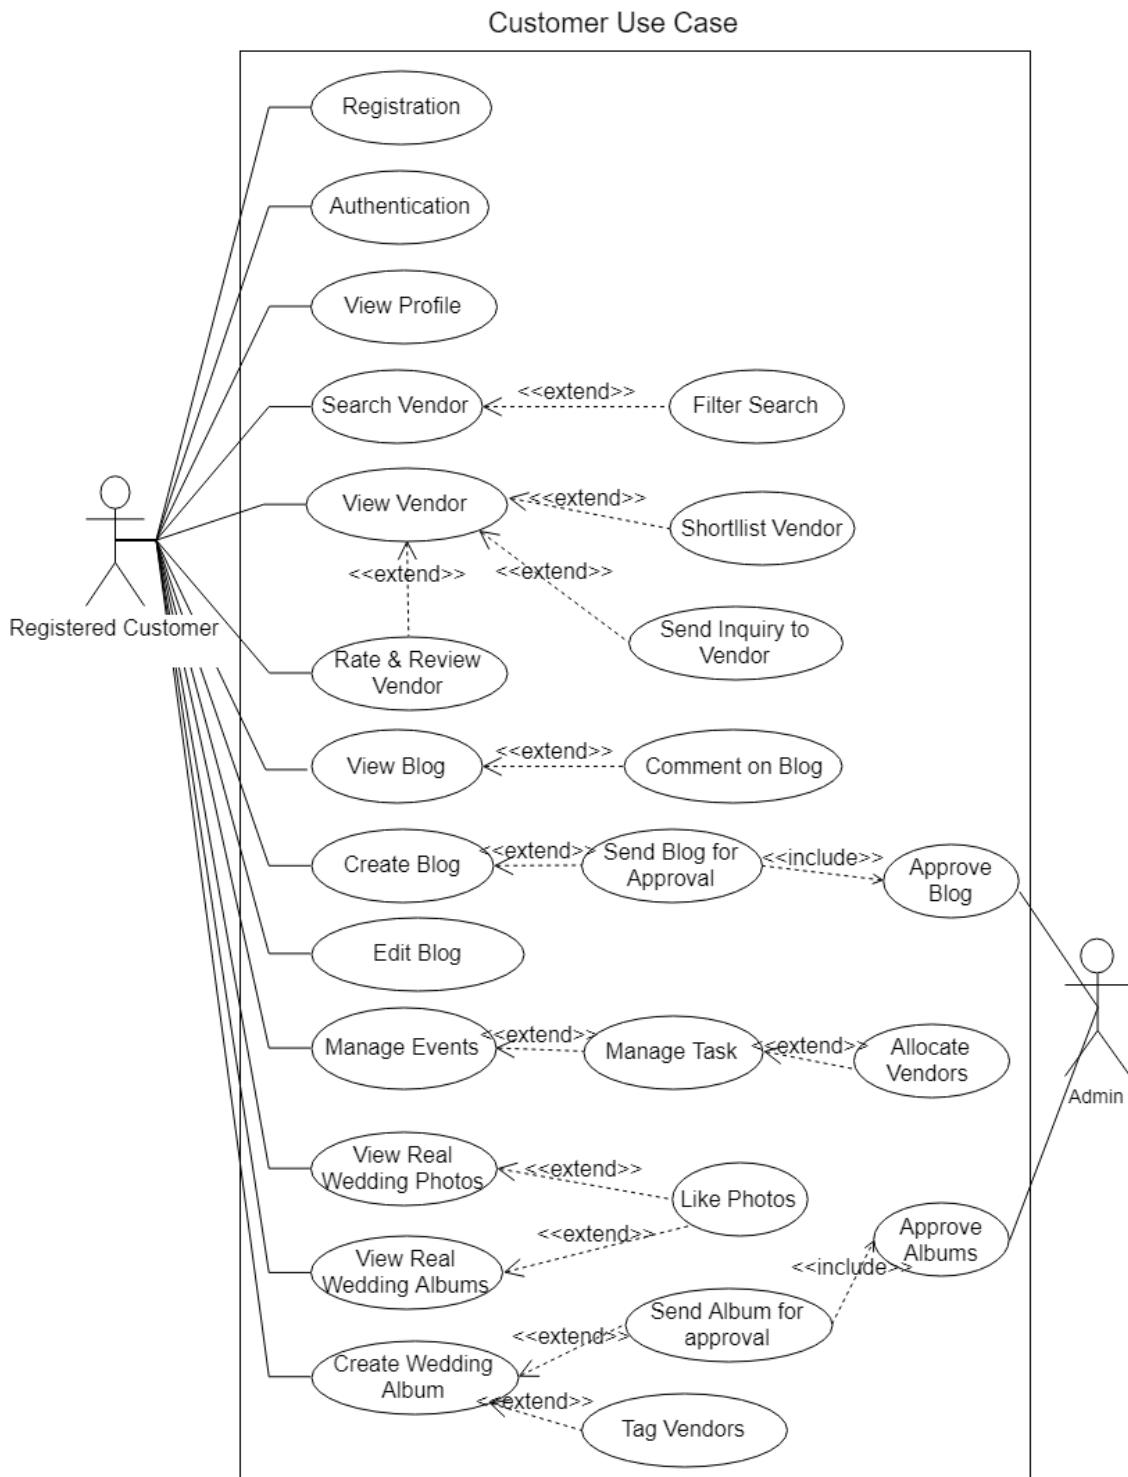

4.1 Module Hierarchy

The system is divided into 7 main modules, each module has sub modules in order to complete the overall working of that module. 1st level modules are the main modules.

Vendor Landing Page

But I must explain to you how all this mistaken idea of denouncing pleasure and praising pain was born and I will give you a complete account of the system, and expound the actual teachings of the great explorer of the truth, the master-builder of human happiness. No one rejects, dislikes, or avoids pleasure itself, because it is pleasure, but because those who do not know how to pursue pleasure rationally encounter consequences that are extremely painful. Nor again is there anyone who loves or pursues or desires to obtain pain of itself, because it is pain, but because occasionally circumstances occur in which toll and pain can procure him some great pleasure. To take a trivial example, which of us ever undertakes laborious physical exercise, except to obtain some advantage from it? But who has any right to find fault with a man who chooses to enjoy a pleasure that has no annoying consequences, or one who avoids a pain that produces no resultant pleasure? On the other hand, we denounce with righteous indignation and dislike men who are so beguiled and demoralized by the charms of pleasure of the moment, so blinded by desire, that they cannot foresee
